Dear Parents,

I would like to start by taking the opportunity to express how proud I felt of your children this week. They had such a mature attitude towards their tests and actually appeared to enjoy the challenge (which each and every one of them rose to!) Thank you Year 2 and well done from all of the team. Please remember that until we have the national scores, I am unable to give you any information about your child's scores. These will not be available until nearer the end of June and then we do not readily make them available, it is upon request.

In English the children have been having fun listening to 'The Twits!' They have been coming up with their own tricks, just like in the story. Most of these were both played on me or you I'm afraid and they were very detailed!

I played my own trick on the class when I told them I was setting some homework that 'had' to be completed this weekend. However, they saw the funny side when I explained that it was to chill, have fun and relax with their families! Enjoy your weekend.

Kind regards,

Mrs Wardle and Mrs Patterson
