

Dear Parents,

This week the children have been re-capping their knowledge of time. They are confidently able to tell o'clock and half past, with some children being able to identify quarter past and quarter to the hour. We will re-visit this at various stages and we do use the clock to establish our break times throughout the day. On Monday I will be giving the children a practice test from the government website to familiarise them a little more, ready for May.

In English, the children have used their topic knowledge to make a diary entry as if they were Thomas Farrinor in the year 1666. They used some great descriptions about what they saw, heard, smelt and described their feelings. The children are going to film their very own newsflash reports next week, using their vast knowledge to help them.

We hope you liked the children's Tudor houses. They had great fun making them and we would like to thank Mrs Wisdom for helping us to begin the lanterns in the afternoon.. These should look really effective with a light inside them (subject to adult supervision!)

We are hoping the weather picks up again, to enable us to spend longer outside learning some new sports. We are going to continue to develop our tag rugby skills and then move onto tennis in term 5.

Kind regards,

Mrs Wardle and Mrs Patterson
