Hello everyone, I hope you have had a good week. The children have been working hard and learning new things!

In Maths, we have been learning the written methods for long multiplication and division. The children have completed some calculations and have persevered extremely well! We have also looked at place value, ordering, comparing and writing numbers to a million!

In English, we have continued our book, 'A pig called Henry'. The children have been acting out some Tudor punishments, and a market scene! We have some actors amongst us it seems! From this the children have written a fantastic description of the Tudor market and I am thoroughly impressed.

In Science we have completed our first investigation. We have investigated which cups are the best thermal conductors and insulators! So the children should be able to tell you which cup to make a tea in!

In History, we have begun looking at how the Tudor period started. In class we have learnt about the 'Battle of Bosworth' and how King Henry VII beat the Yorkshiresmen to become King.

I hope you all have a great weekend,

Mr Deakin
