Dear Parents,

This week in English, the children completed detailed non-chronological reports. We did a lot of work on SPaG, including taking and going through a test and the children also completed a reading comprehension. In Maths, we have worked on arithmetic, mental maths strategies and reasoning. It became clear that many children still found converting between miles and kilometres tricky, so we did an extra session to ensure all children were confident in this area. RE involved a comparison of what different religions believe happens after death.

Teacher of the Week

Eva was this week's teacher and she led a fantastic session to teach us all how to do a step-by-step drawing. By following Eva's clear instructions, we all drew an impressive picture of Egyptian pyramids.

Traidcraft Exchange

An amazing array of cakes came into school yesterday - the classroom smelt fantastic! The children had baked wonderful cakes using Fairtrade ingredients. The sale after school was very popular and there were enough cakes left over to have another sale at break time today. Riley was the winner of the competition, as he made a really mouth-watering cake, which included seven different Fairtrade ingredients. Altogether, the children raised £86.25 for the Traidcraft Exchange charity - Mrs Bowie and I are really proud of them all.

Home learning

The children begged for no home learning, but I was way too mean to agree! It is really important that the children keep their brains ticking over during the holiday, as we only have three more school weeks before SATs. Consequently, I have sent home a reading comprehension, a maths arithmetic test, a maths reasoning test and some SPaG revision activities for the children to complete. Please encourage your child to complete them and ensure they are brought to school on the first day back.

I hope you all have a really restful Easter, with plenty of chocolate,

Best wishes,

Louise Grinstead
